

Name _____

Find the subject complements in the sentences below. Underline predicate adjectives in red and predicate nominatives in black.

1. Perfect Strangers was a sitcom on ABC television in the 1980s.
2. Veteran actor Mark Linn-Baker was Larry Appleton, an aspiring photographer working for the Chicago Tribune.
3. Relative newcomer Bronson Pinchot is his cousin, Balki Bartokomous from the fictional country of Mypos.
4. Balki seems excited and nervous to be in a new country.
5. Larry appears frustrated that this unknown cousin will spoil his new life in the big city.
6. Balki's most memorable act is the "Dance of Joy," which he forces his cousin to perform with him whenever he becomes happy.
7. Though the setup seems a little contrived, the show was wildly popular with American audiences.
8. Perfect Strangers remains a nostalgic favorite of Kellenberg's Mr. Cioffi.
9. Looking back on it now, it seems difficult to believe its success.
10. The hairstyles alone were reason to turn off the television.