

Name _____

Identify the verbal phrases in the sentences below.

Appreciating great art takes time. Most people looking at a painting for the first time aren't sure what to think. Only by studying different artists and works can someone begin to understand the infinite variety of the world's art. Comparing one work to another, a viewer might discover things not seen when viewing works in isolation. Seeing all the great works of art in museums would take a lifetime of travel. Most people interested in art have to settle for viewing reproductions in books. Fortunately, with digital tools like Google Art Project, art fans have more ways than ever to learn about their favorite works.
